Copyright Resource Information Sessions for Faculty

- Do you ever wonder if it is OK to use material from the Internet?
- Do you want to spice up your lectures with colorful images?
- Do you want to provide your students with a variety of media?
- Do you create your own material or do you derive your materials from another copyrighted work?
- Not sure how to go about determining whether the material is copyright protected and whether you can use it or not?

Marjorie, Tracy and Rachelle from the Intellectual Property Office are available to help you work through your specific questions and unique situations. If we don't know, we will find an answer for you. Each month we will provide a theme for discussion if you just want to drop in, but you are not limited to the theme. We want to hear from you and we want to design our sessions to meet your concerns.

Drop into HL210B (Centre for Student Engagement and Learning Innovation) on the third Tuesday of every month between 12:00 and 2:00 pm with your questions and we will work through them with you. We will have an internet connection so we can research your question in real time.

Don't have time to drop in? Contact the Intellectual Property Office copyright@tru.ca or Scott Blackford 250 852 6811 with your copyright questions and concerns.
